

From vague ambition to quantified scope

What is the true problem?

What does success look like?

What data exists?

What are the constraints?

What is in scope now?

Quantified scope
→ architecture loop