

Each panel is independent: percentages are relative to the model's own stated predecessor/reference and are NOT comparable across panels.