Select models: screen on capability, then benchmark on the workload filter narrows the candidates (capability first), then survivors are measured on the real workload against the SLO gate.